COLEMAN COMPLETES CIRCUIT OF KOOTENAY LEAGUE SCHEDULE

A Win, A Loss And A Draw Gives a 50-50 Break In Games With West Kootenay Clubs.

Three points were picked up by Canadians on their jaunt around the circuit last week when they played Roseland, Trail and Nelson. This is in sharp contrast to the three defeats suffered in their initial trip to these points.

Trail 20 in their game at Roseland, Coleman put on pressure in the second and third periods for Jim Fraser, Bill Fraser and Jenkins to score and give Canadians a 3-2 win.

It was a different matter at Trail the next evening when Coleman absorbed their worst trimming in years, going down to an 11-1 count.

Remarkably on the Trail game, Jenkins stated that Coleman did not hold back as is generally believed but that everything they tried went wrong and Trail were playing their best hockey of the season. Lopichuk saved the locals from a shut-out when he scored with only three minutes left to play.

Officiating in the Kootenay league has not been of a very high standard and it is doubtful if any referee knows his rule book from cover to cover. Certain it is that officials seen in games here do not. The same is true at Nelson, where a slip cost Coleman a win. Canadians were leading 2-1 when N. Smith passed to Red Carr. The puck was kicked into the net and a goal allowed. Coleman's protests were in vain. After the game, it is reported, Carr admitted to Kemp he had kicked the puck into the net. If there are two officials on the ice one of them should keep on top of the play and detect tactics such as gained Nelson a point.

The officials evidently repented their decision for in the overtime period they disallowed two goals scored by Nelson, enabling Coleman to save one point. Joyce and Jenkins scored for Canadians.

Had Coleman won four points they could still have kept in the play-off race. Lethbridge need only defeat Roseland and their play-off position is assured.

Pass Towns Contribute $174.85 to Chinese Relief Fund

Collections for the Chinese Relief fund resulted as follows: Collection at Coleman bank $38.65; Coleman merchants $38.95; Chinese residents of Coleman $29.60; total $107.20.

The collection of Hillcrest was $32.50, and at Blairmore $32.45, making a grand total of $174.85. The Chinese committee express appreciation for the donations, and the money will be forwarded to the proper authorities in China to provide supplies for war sufferers.

Coal Miners Double Salary of Lewis to $25,000

(The Christian Science Monitor)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—John L. Lewis led his own United Mine Workers of America completely out of the A.F. of L., widening the rift in American labor and consolidating the structure of the new C.I.O. at last night's session of the annual convention of the Miners' Union.

Further, he obtained from his miners generous approval for doubling the salaries of all officers of the union, including an increase for himself from $12,500 a year to $25,000 which has been voted two years ago by a narrow margin so that he declined to accept it.

Capping the busiest session yet of the convention, he obtained unanimous approval for a ban from membership in the union of all Communists, and members of the Ku Klux Klan, the National Civic Federation, the National Chamber of Commerce, and members of the Ku Klux Klan, the National Civic Federation, the National Chamber of Commerce, and members of the Ku Klux Klan.

The move, according to advice from federation quarters, will lead to the granting of a new A.F. of L. charter for a mine workers' organization which will attempt to compete with the U.M.W. for membership in the coal mining regions. Such a change would tend to solidify the rift between A.F. of L. and C.I.O.

Since each new rival union set up by the A.F. of L. in particular industrial field will form a vested interest in keeping the rift alive.

Delegate from Nordregg speaks as an answer to frequent charges from employers that the C.I.O. unions are under strong influence from this type of political thinking. It was

Local Elections Next Monday---Nine Candidates

Councillors Allan and Antrobus, and Trustee Greenhalgh Seek Re-election—Five Nominees of Miners' Association—Salvador Runs as Independent Nominee for School Board.

E. D. Battum, official auditor of the town, as duly appointed returning officer in the absence of James Ford, secretary-treasurer of the town and school district, announced the following nominations at the town office at 12 noon on Monday, Feb. 7:

George Pattinson, for mayor, by acclamation.

For councillors—J. M. Allan, Fred Antrobus, seeking re-election; J. Atkinson, sr., Frank Sirak, W. J. White, nominees of Coleman Miners Association.

For school board—R. M. Greenhalgh, seeking re-election; James John Hadley and Harold Chamberlain nominees of Coleman Miners' Association; John Salvador, ratepayers' candidate.

Of the candidates, Mayor Pattinson has the longest term of service to the ratepayers, having served four terms of two years each as councillor, and three terms as mayor, making 14 years.

Councillor Allan has served on the school board as chairman, and for the past two years as councillor, while Councillor Antrobus has served for six years. Frank Sirak served from 1932 to 1936.

The other two, J. Atkinson and W. White are new aspirants for civic honors. The members of the council who have a year to complete their terms are Joe Plante, W. Chapman and Wm. Borrows.

It is of interest to recall the 1936 election for councillors: W. H. Haysom, retiring this year, headed the poll with 147 votes. Fred Antrobus was second with 107, and J. M. Allan, third with 92. Frank Sirak, who had previously served two terms on the council, polled 88 votes, and J. S. D'Appollonia 85. Only one third of the voters went to the poll, and no active campaigning was done, with the result that the smallest vote for several years was recorded.

In this year's election, no vital issues are at present being discussed. The public works program of the present council has met with general approval of the ratepayers, as has also its relief program. Councillor Antrobus was asked by representatives of the miners' association to seek election as mayor, but he declined. The ratepayers appear to be satisfied to have Mayor Pattinson remain at the helm.

On the school board, there are two vacancies to be filled. R. M. Greenhalgh seeks re-election, having completed a two-year term, and the two-year term of George Hope also expires, though he resigned during 1937, and his place was not filled by a by-election.

The only point of contention raised at the annual ratepayers' meeting on Jan. 23, at which only one of the new candidates for office was present (John Salvador) was that of teaching music in the schools. Mr. Salvador speaking strongly of it being resumed, he concurring with Councillor Haysom that a mistake had been made in terminating the services of Mr. Moffatt. That is one of the reasons Mr. Salvador is allowing his name to appear as a candidate to test public opinion on this point.

Town Council Holds Regular Meeting

A regular meeting was held on Tuesday evening, those being present, Deputy Mayor Borrows; councillors Allan, Antrobus and Chapman.

A letter was received from Henry Meyerhoff, manager Crescent Canadians Shows, requesting permission to exhibit for three days in June. Permission will be given under certain conditions.

There were several relief matters attended to.

The following accounts were passed for payment: Charles Makin $10.50, The Motorhome $4.50, A. E. Knowles $12.25, The Old Age Pensioners Dep't $8.00, Both Memorial Home $12.00, Coleman Journal, Printing Stationery and Fin-Stat. $6.02, Sam's Service Station $9.86, International Coal Co. $34.50, McGillivray Creek Coal Co. $22.70, Coleman Light and Water Co. $70.50, Coleman Hospital $100.00, Groceries to indigents supplied by order of council $131.85.

Total $799.49

The meeting adjourned at 9:25.

"Pigeon Club" Smoker and Prize Presentation

A Pleasant Time Was Had By All And 1937 Pigeons Reviewed.

That merry band of stalwarts, Coleman Homing Society, who get much pleasure during the summer in flying pigeons long distances to find who has the fastest, held their annual smoker on Saturday evening.

The writer was to have been chairman, but as he had fallen by the way, the president, took the chair. Makin, the president, took the chair. Makin, the president, took the chair. Makin, the president, took the chair.

About 60 were present and the Charlie items on the program were interlarded with copious refreshments.

Jimmy Love presented the cups to Fred Bedington, the genial secretary of the society, and Andrew Biegan, whose pigeons proved the champions during the 1937 season. About 11:45 the boys broke up in harmony just in time to get home as the clock struck midnight.

Winners Crow League

Hillcrest Stages a Comeback After Lap of 20 Years by Winning Championship.

Hillcrest, after a lapse of twenty years, won the Crow's Nest Pass hockey league this week by trouncing Blairmore Bears in a two game series. By their win Hillcrest will represent the Crow league in the provincial Morgan cup series. They play the winner of the Calgary-Camrose series on Feb. 16 and 19 in a home and home series.

On Sunday they stopped off in Lethbridge long enough to drub the Lethbridge Juniors 4-1. Moore and Pavlus led the attack in the first period, to give the Excels a lead which they never relinquished.

By trouncing the luckless Roseland Miners on Tuesday evening 11-1, Lethbridge Maple Leafs made certain of a place in the Kootenay play-off series. Their win gave them a total of 24 points, while the best Coleman can point, while the best Coleman can point, while the best Coleman can point.

School Board Held Regular Meeting Tues.

Parents In Letter Asks That Report Cards Be Issued—Board Orders That Same Be Done.

A regular meeting of Coleman school board was held on Tuesday evening. Present: chairman Wm. Fraser, trustees Greenhalgh and Sharp.

Minutes of last regular meeting, special meeting and the annual ratepayers' meeting were read and adopted.

A letter was received from a parent who was dissatisfied with the progress made by his children at school. He stated he had spoken to one teacher who had assured him that his child was making good progress, but at the end of the term had failed. He went to Principal Hoyte recently in an effort to find out why his children were not making the progress he expected, but failed to secure satisfaction. He asked the board why children are not given report books at least twice a term as is the case in other schools. The board ordered monthly report cards be given public school pupils regularly.

The 5% tax penalty for tardy taxpayers was ordered rescinded.

A letter of acknowledgment from the senior hockey team re the $50 grant was read.

A letter re trees and shrubs was ordered filed until the school grounds are put into condition.

Shrubs were ordered for Cameron school.

U.M.W.A. Speaker Addresses Meeting

Endorsing to Secure Membership of Coleman Miners as Unit in U.M.W.A.

Addressing a meeting on Sunday evening in the Community hall, Pat Conroy, vice-president of District 15 of the United Mine Workers of America, spoke on various matters concerning wages and general conditions pertaining to mine workers.

Mr. Conroy, who hails from Drumheller, has spoken here on previous occasions, and for a considerable time efforts have been made to replace Coleman Miners' Association with a local of the U.M.W. of A. A vote was taken during 1937, but did not carry.

WARNING TO PUPILS

Complaints having been made to the school trustees by the teachers of Class 9, Sections A and B, of pupils making a habit of arriving late, warning is given that if they are sent home, they need not come to the trustees with complaints, nor let parents they do not know the reason they were sent home. Pupils offending are as follows:

Jack Goldring, Jack Russell, Fred Bedington, Jasper Jones, William Bell, Aldo Ferreira, Arthur Westworth, Lawrence Carro, Tom Flynn.

Signed: WILLIAM FRASER, Chairman of Trustees, Coleman School District.

The Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's United church will hold their St. Valentine Tea, parcel and apron sale on Saturday, February 19, from 3 till 6 p.m. Keep this date open.

Excels in Stanley Cup Series

Coleman Excels were given until 6 p.m. Wednesday to file registration forms with Joe McDougall in order to qualify them to enter the provincial Stanley cup series against Blairmore.

Should Excels file their registration cards before the dead-line they will have to play the Bears in a two-game series to be completed before Feb. 12. This will enable the winner to step into the second round on schedule.

Remedies Required

Drivers of automobiles and trucks who protect themselves against financial loss arising from damage to their own cars or to the cars and property of others as a result of accident on the highways are going to pay more for the privilege during the coming season.

In other words, the cost of automobile insurance has increased, a sharp advance in premium rates having been put into effect, on new business as from January 1 and on renewal business as from February 1.

The reason for the advance in rates, according to the Underwriters' organization representing the board companies and according to the non-board companies, is a very material increase in the record of accidents involving loss of life and injury as well as property damage in 1937 in the western provinces, a statement which is substantiated by officials of the provincial governments in charge of insurance departments.

At the time of writing accident and damage statistics for the entire year were not completed, but sufficient data had been compiled to show that, in one of the provinces at least, the record of accidents and losses at the end of November 1937 was substantially greater than during the whole of 1936.

Going Backwards

The record is one of the automobiles drivers in the west have little reason to be proud of. It marks a distinct retrogression in the progress of civilization which the highways of the country become increasingly dangerous year by year, despite safety publicity campaigns and searching inquiry should be made into the causes and drastic steps taken, if necessary, to at least reduce them, if they cannot be eliminated entirely. The latter, of course, can never be achieved as long the human element is a factor and defective equipment a potential creator of crashes, but unquestionably precautions and safeguards can be adopted which would very much reduce the risks, when the public consciousness can be aroused to the degree necessary to ensure general support for them.

The onus for the enforcement of greater safeguards for the protection of human life and limb and property on the highways is distinctly upon the reasonable driver and the general public, and unless this prerogative is exercised and made articulate the time may come when fear of consequences may drive rational people off the highways. Already there are many who are afraid to drive at night and this growing dread may ultimately deprive them also of the pleasures of daylight driving on the main arteries of traffic.

Paradoxical though it may seem, two of the causes of the increase in the number of accidents can be attributed to the continued use of old-fashioned vehicles of ancient vintage with defective brakes and treadless tires and the appearance on the highways last summer and fall of a larger number of new and late model high-powered cars.

Buying More Power

That the former should be the cause of accidents need occasion no surprise but the use of the newer models are also responsible because drivers who have suddenly switched from a plodding old fizzle, as many did last year to a modern streamlined automobile with great power and high speed potentials under its hood, failed to realize its capabilities when unleashed and were unable to adjust themselves to the new power plant under their control, and because of that, sometimes out of their control when emergency arose.

Then, too, there is reason to believe that there are too many drivers on the highway, intoxicated, partially intoxicated or slightly under the influence of liquor, constituting a grave menace, not only to themselves and their passengers, but to temperate and reasonably cautious drivers and their passengers, as well as other users of the path of traffic, including pedestrians and cyclists.

The Drunken Driver

To eliminate the last-mentioned from the use of the roads no measures can be too stern. The modern automobile in the hand of the uninitiated is dangerous enough, but when a driver even slightly under the influence of liquor gets behind its wheel the vehicle becomes a roaring juggernaut comparable only to a Malay running amok on a crowded street with a naked creese in his hands.

To deal with the drunken or partially drunken driver, highway patrols should be increased, checks should be more numerous and apprehension and conviction should be followed, not only by a jail term but suspension of license for a long term, and in the most aggravated cases cancellation of license for all time.

What should be done about the inexperienced and inept driver is a more intricate problem. Certain it is that there are drivers on the roads suffering from physical disabilities who should not be allowed to sit behind a car wheel. In theory, in those provinces whose governments issue operators' licenses, it is assumed that all who get licenses are competent to drive. This is very much open to doubt when the perfunctory manner in which these licenses can be secured is taken into consideration, and it should not be overlooked that the man who can navigate an ancient car around the farm or on a quiet road may not be competent to handle a late model, high powered car on a crowded highway where there is considerable congestion and high speeds are attained. It would seem that more careful check of the competence of the driver when licenses are issued would be in order.

For Lower Insurance

If some of the foregoing measures were not only adopted but more rigidly enforced, along with others which might be suggested, it is reasonable to assume that traffic loss figures would decline with a resultant greater measure of safety for the reasonable driver and his passengers, a reduction in loss of life and property and decreased cost of insurance against death and disaster on the open road.

The Sugar Beet Industry

Foundation Was Laid By Emperor Napoleon In 1811
"Two lumps, please," you answer carlelessly. "Thank you!"

It is probable you never gave the two lumps of sugar a thought. Even if you did—and how many of you do?—did you know that the man who first made possible the commercial development of sugar from beets was Napoleon, Emperor of France, or that the sugar you take in your morning coffee is just as likely to be made from Canadian-grown sugar beets as it is from the more widely known sugar cane?

Sugar, as far as we can ascertain, was first used in India. The Chinese soon discovered it, and by 1270 had developed it into a flourishing industry; but it was not until the early part of the nineteenth century that beet sugar began to be produced in commercial quantities. In 1811 Napoleon crushed it, and by 1870 had developed it into a flourishing industry; but it was not until the early part of the nineteenth century that beet sugar began to be produced in commercial quantities. In 1811 Napoleon crushed it, and by 1870 had developed it into a flourishing industry; but it was not until the early part of the nineteenth century that beet sugar began to be produced in commercial quantities.

Historians and Hollywood are fond of enlarging on Napoleon's military and amateur campaigns, but few have had little to say about the boon which the Emperor conferred upon posterity when he encouraged the sugar beet industry. Since those early days scientific methods of seed growing and cultivation have taken the long strides. Canadian land today produces beets four times as high in sugar content as the beets of Napoleon's day; and factory methods have progressed to the stage where manufacturing is an exacting science with every feature well planned and scientifically controlled.

Lampreys In Great Lakes

Parasites That Are Proving A Threat To The Fishing Industry

A new threat to the commercial fishing industry of this country is seen in the spread of the sea lamprey to the upper lakes from Lake Ontario and its tributaries. The sea lamprey is an eel-like, blood-sucking creature that attaches itself to fish, rasps a hole in the skin, and then gorges on the victim's blood. Attached to the fish, it injects chemical substances into the blood to prevent coagulation at the wound.

Report to the United States Bureau of Fisheries at Ann Arbor, Mich., says the University of Michigan's Institute of Fisheries Research have indicated the spread of the parasite. The lamprey migrated to the western lakes, apparently through canals which enabled them to pass the insurmountable Niagara Falls.

Comparative newcomer to Lakes Huron and Michigan, it has not been found in Lake Superior, east of the lakes.

Dr. Carl L. Hubbs, University of Michigan ichthyologist, reported that in nearly all cases recorded in Huron and Michigan, the lamprey was found attached to lake trout. He urged fishermen to report location of all spawning runs as a step in eradication of the menace. Sea lamprey and native lamprey can easily be identified, he said. The sea lamprey is larger in size, has mottled coloration lacking in the lake species, and has two distinct dorsal fins.

Savings Bank Deposits

Total Of All Savings In Bank Placed At $1,583,694,721

At Oct. 31, 1937, there were 536 Canadians with deposits in chartered banks having accounts of $100,000 or more, and 3,770,092 people had savings accounts of $1,000 or less, according to a return tabulated in the House of Commons.

Deposits of between $1,000 and $5,000 numbered 274,810, from $5,000 to $10,000 there were 26,343 depositors, and 2,371 with deposits between $5,000 and $25,000. Total of all savings deposits was $1,583,694,721.

Current deposits of $100,000 or more numbered 765, with 596,530 deposits of $1,000 or less, and total current deposits of $679,125,114.

New Kind Of Gas

Can Be Used For Fuel As Well As A Lubricant

A "miraculous gas" used for tractor fuel by farmers in southeastern Alberta and western Saskatchewan was described by the federal tariff board by E. D. Arnold of Calgary.

It not only provides fuel for the tractor but also acts as a source of lubricant, he said. It is obtained from wells at Wiltash, Mont. near the Alberta border and retails to farmers at two and a half cents a gallon. It is a light crude oil and used entirely without refining. As the crude burned in engines, Mr. Arnold explained, it formed a product which ran down the walls of the cylinders, providing adequate lubrication. In addition, it ran down into the crankcase and collected and could later be drawn off and refined in small home-distilling plants to provide a good grade of transmission grease.

"The nearest Alberta product—tractor distillate—costs more than 14 cents per gallon and the cost of lubricants and greases must be added to that," he said.

Mr. Arnold urged there be no increase on the tariff for Montana.

"An added tariff," he told the board, "would be a handicap for southeastern Alberta and southwestern Saskatchewan farmers."

Fatal Accidents In U.S.

In 1937 The Loss Of Life Was Reported At 106,000

Accidental deaths cost the United States 106,000 lives in 1937, the national safety council computed, including an annual all-time high of 39,700 in the traffic field. The permanently injured were estimated at 100,000, temporarily injured at 9,000,000.

This "gruesome jamboree of carelessness," the council said, ran up a bill of $3,700,000,000.

It was broken down into $2,550,000,000 for death and non-death losses, $870,000,000 for property damage in traffic accidents and $285,000,000 property loss in fires.

ALICE STEVENS' RECIPES

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES ARE EXCELLENT SOURCES OF VITAMIN C

Fruits and vegetables are the only sources of appreciable amounts of vitamin C. This vitamin is needed not only to prevent scurvy but to maintain healthy teeth and gums and to prevent listlessness, sorrow, depression and pains of the joints.

Apples are second to no other vitamin C than are potatoes. As a scurvy preventative they have the added value of being eaten raw while potatoes are cooked. There are few recent stories in history which show the value of the potato crop in saving the peasant families in Europe and Ireland from the dread disease, scurvy. Similar stories are told of the Far West.

Cooking destroys at least half the vitamin C content originally present. Apples with the peel on are twice as rich as peeled apples in vitamin C. Two Yellow Newlands or one Red Delicious apple equals one potato in vitamin C. There are few recent stories in history which show the value of the potato crop in saving the peasant families in Europe and Ireland from the dread disease, scurvy. Similar stories are told of the Far West.

Try this recipe and you can feel satisfied that your family is receiving a diet that is high in food value and low in cost. I have a number of other recipes which I shall be pleased to send you, free of cost.

APPLE CUSTARD

4 apples
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons sugar
Peel, core and cut the apples in thin slices. Melt the butter in a pan. Add the apples and sugar. Cook five minutes, being careful not to break the apples. Place the apples in a baking dish and add the following mixture:

2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1½ cups milk
1½ teaspoon vanilla
Beat the eggs slightly and combine with the apples and milk in the custard. Strain the mixture over the apples and bake.

A Sensible Suggestion

Minister Of National Revenue Has Idea To R-duce Taxation

Hon. N. W. Rowell remarked the other day that everybody asked for debt and tax reductions but nobody brought forward a plan by which what they were asking for could be accomplished. That in the main is quite correct. Most of us talk glibly about the necessity of cutting down the burden of taxation but we are not so eloquent in suggesting practical means of bringing about that end.

However, Hon. J. L. Tisley, the minister of national revenue has come forward with one way in which something can be done and a very effective way, too. In a recent speech in Toronto he appealed for a little consideration on the part of folk with ideas of how the government should spend money.

Individuals, corporations and communities who feel the weight of taxes and other levies, the minister argued, should organize not to press governments for additional expenditures but to prevent governments from making unnecessary expenditures.

There have been hundreds of deputations to Ottawa to urge financial support for this, that and the other cause or undertaking but we fall to recall at the moment any delegation being organized to make the pilgrimage to the capital for the purpose of pleading with the government not to spend money. ## Improvements For Scotland

Expert Edinburg's Taxes To Be Increased This Year

With housing, public assistance, education, health and air raid precautions demanding larger expenditures Edinburgh's taxes will increase fourpence in each pound this year, Balfour Fortune told the Morayshire Club.

Major Robert Bruce, who presided, declared that Scotland is now going through a great struggle to improve her industries and housing and to bring prosperity to the highlands.

"Scotland has been through many a struggle before now," he said. "We all know the result when she sets her teeth. It is a case of win through. Highland prosperity is vital to the health of Scotland, and if we say this it is as good as saying it is necessary for the world."

Government regulations for air raid precautions to be carried out by the local authorities were issued and are being studied carefully in the larger Scottish communities. Appointment of air raid precautions officers in Glasgow and Edinburgh is expected soon.

Preliminary surveys reveal that the people of Scotland are far better prepared than those of England. A surprisingly large number of cellars and other refuges already are available.

Bale in 1880 there was a turkey for every five persons in this country according to crop figures, but now there is only one for six persons.

Not one fatal road accident was reported in the square mile of the city of London in a recent period of 10 weeks.

CARRY YOUR ALKALIZER WITH YOU

WITH YOU

IF OVER-EATING CAUSES ACID INDIGESTION—

—HERE'S THE SENSIBLE THING TO DO

The fastest way to "alkalize" is to carry your alkalizer with you. That's what thousands do now that genuine Phillips' comes in tiny, peppermint flavored tablets—in a flat tin for pocket or purse. Then you are always ready.

Use it this way. Take 2 Phillips' tablets—equal in "alkalizing" effect to 2 teaspoonsful of liquid Phillips' from the bottle. At once you feel "gas," nausea, "over-crowding" from hyper-acidity begin to ease. "Acid headaches," "acid breath," "over-acid stomach" are corrected at the source. This is the quick way to ease your own distress—avoid offense to others.

Stories About Hetty Green

Remarkable Woman Who Amassed Fortune Was Not Charitable

One of the most remarkable women who ever lived was Hetty Green, the "Queen of Wall Street."

Nobody has ever discovered the sources of her "inside" information of the American stock market. During her lifetime she made £20,000,000 from her share dealings.

But she was so mean that her underclothing was fashioned from newspapers, and she washed only the bottom of her petticoats so that she could save soap. She had her meals at carmen's "palaces" and sometimes contented herself by chewing a piece of onion all day. She was 81 when she died in 1916.

One of her very last acts was to send a biblical text to somebody who had asked for a free pass on a railway she controlled. This text ran: "So he paid the fare thereof and went."—Jonah 1:3. London Answers.

Made History In Egypt

A King and Queen appeared publicly together for the first time in Egypt's history when King Farouk and his bride, Farida, reviewed a parade of Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and athletes from the balcony of Abdin Palace. Thunderous cheers greeted the appearance of Farida.

Munitions For China Reported to Have Been Shipped to Hankow

Shanghai.—Munitions sufficient to supply General Chiang Kai-Shek's armies for a year of war against Japan were reported to have been transported from Hong Kong to Hankow, China's provisional capital. The shipments were completed in the face of desperate Japanese efforts to crack the principal supply link between the British-crown colony on the south China coast and Hankow—the Canton-Hankow railway.

The railway has been the target of daily aerial bombardments. Canton, 80 miles northwest of Hong Kong at the head of the broad estuary of the Canton river, was the principal relay point for the munition cargoes.

Hankow lies 500 miles further north, a deep inland base for the Chinese defence which was reported yesterday on the two-sided Lungshai railway front of East Central China.

The munition cargo was said to have been shipped to Hong Kong from Czechoslovakia on orders placed last summer by Dr. H. H. Kung, Chinese finance minister and president of the executive yuan (parliament), on an arms-buying tour of Europe. (Last August Dr. Kung arranged a $50,000,000 commercial credit with Dr. Skoda arms concern of Czechoslovakia.)

President Of Legion

Col. W. W. Foster To Direct Affairs For Next Two Years

Port William, Ont.—With Col. W. W. Foster, Vancouver, elected to direct the affairs of the Canadian Legion for the next two years, the association proceeded to the choosing of its remaining officers. Colonel C. Basil Price, Montreal, was elected Dominion first vice-president and Alex Walker, Calgary, second vice-president.

Officers elected were A. E. "Jack" Moore, Winnipeg, Dominion chairman and Major Milton F. Gregg, Ottawa, Dominion honorary treasurer.

Addressing the delegates briefly on accepting the presidency of the Legion, Colonel Foster emphasized the extent to which the association had grown in prestige among the people of Canada. It was now the largest body in the country, dedicated to the cause of national service.

Says Western Canada Is Impoverished By Protective Tariffs

Ottawa.—A free trade area for the prairie provinces where tariffs would not be imposed was urged in the House of Commons by Gordon Ross (Lib., Moose Jaw).

Protective tariffs, the Saskatchewan free trader said, were impoverishing western Canada. At the same time eastern Canada believed tariffs were both helpful and necessary. The only logical remedy was to impose a system of regional tariffs—permit the east to retain them and leave the prairies a free market.

"The west demands justice," exclaimed Mr. Ross at the conclusion of a general onslaught on the principle of protective tariffs. "We demand a free trade area in the three prairie provinces."

No matter what government was in power, or what party, it seemed impossible to get a tariff that suited both the east and the west, Mr. Ross said. If the tariff was low enough to satisfy the west, it was too low to please the manufacturers of the east.

"The west cannot carry on under a protective system," Mr. Ross declared, "and the west has no right to place obstacles in the way of the rest of Canada. If we have come to the place where advantages to one part of the country are great disadvantages to another part, there must be some way to straighten it out."

"Under a free trade area, it cannot be denied the west would grow, prosper and help to develop the rest of Canada," he argued. But if tariffs were retained, a wedge would be driven in confederation and the whole country would suffer.

The only logical solution was for the prairie provinces to be allowed to become a free market and the east to retain protective tariffs. Western Canada had to "cut its protection costs or quit." It could

New Bill Introduced

Would Give Government More Control Over War Supply Exports

Ottawa.—Added power to control traffic out of Canada in munitions and war supplies would be vested in the government by adoption of a bill introduced in the House of Commons on motion of Transport Minister Howe. The bill, given first reading, would empower the governor-in-council to prohibit export from Canada of all classes of war supplies in vessels of Canadian registry.

There was no discussion on the measure and details of its purpose and administration will await later debate in the house. It supplements a measure of arms export control now vested in the government by amendments to the customs act last year.

Under existing legislation it is necessary that all exports of munitions and implements of war be under license from the federal government. This gives the governor-in-council power to say whether or not these materials should be sent to any particular country, so far as consignment from Canada is concerned. In addition an order-in-council was passed last August prohibiting export of munitions and armaments to Spain.

The bill covers every material that could conceivably be converted into war materials, including victuals for man and beast. The provision in the customs act amendment covered only actual munitions and machinery of war.

For Testing Seed Samples

Laboratories Would Be Of Great Help To Farmers

Saskatoon.—Establishment of laboratories at which cereal and other seed samples could be tested for disease fungi was advocated by P. M. Will, chief of the Dominion plant pathology laboratory. In an agriculture seminar at the university, he explained that farmers should be able to send seed samples to such a laboratory, where they could be tested for smut, rust and other diseases, and where treatment could be suggested.

Italian Plane Crashes

Four Lives Lost In Tragedy Off The Coast Of Brazil

Natal, Brazil.—The Italian trans-Atlantic seaplane piloted by Captain Mario Stoppani fell in flames off the coast of Brazil and four of her crew were lost.

Only Stoppani, claimant of the world distance record for seaplanes, was saved by a German rescue plane which later reported itself in difficulties, unable to rise from heavy seas near the scene of the tragedy. Stoppani's plane crashed about 200 miles off the coast in an attempt to fly from Natal to Cadiz, Spain. He had turned back after experiencing engine trouble several hundred miles at sea.

The four dead were Captain Enrico Comani and Captain Mario Viola, both veterans of the Italian campaign of Ethiopia, Sergeant Jaria and Mechanic Pagliani.

Lowered Into Gas Well

Chief Driller Recovered Drilling Bit 120 Feet From Surface

Calgary.—"It was just like going down in an elevator," said William Herron, chief driller of Okalta No. 7, in the south Turner Valley oil field, describing how he was lowered 120 feet into the well to recover a drilling bit that had broken off.

Herron was lowered on the well's bailer with a safety rope around his waist. The rope was held by members of the surface crew "just in case I fell off the bailer," he explained.

In less than an hour he accomplished a job that might have taken weeks of "fishing" to locate the lost bit—a large piece of metal. He had one worry. He feared the treacherous gravel walls would cave in.

Says War Exists

Japanese Spokesman Admits Hostilities With China

Tokyo.—Foreign Minister Koki Hirota told the Japanese diet (parliament): "There is no Chinese central government" recognized by Japan. A state of war exists between the two countries."

Thus far in the seven months of Chinese-Japanese hostilities Japan has not declared war on China. The foreign office spokesman refused to comment on Hirota's statement, saying it spoke for itself.

It was reported the Japanese government instructed its charge d'affaires at Ottawa to make representations to the Canadian government concerning the attempted bombing of the steamship Miyu Maru at Seattle by two Canadians last month.

Facing Food Shortage

People On North Channel Island Cut Off By Storm

London.—The 200 inhabitants of Rathlin Island in the North channel between northern Ireland and Scotland were threatened with starvation after being cut off by three weeks of continual storms.

Plight of the inhabitants became alarming as gales and high seas continued to batter the British Isles, preventing food ships from reaching them.

ADMIRAL OF THE FLEET

Oil Investigation

Problems Arising From Production In Turner Valley

Ottawa.—R. V. LeSueur, vice-president of Imperial Oil Company, representing Imperial and Royalite Oil Companies, told the tariff board he had no doubt the 42 per cent production quota fixed for Turner Valley, Alberta, oil producers would be increased as soon as the market could absorb more.

Imperial and British-American Oil Companies had already reacquired contracts for the purchase of Montana crude oil, formerly used in western Canada refineries, LeSueur said in his evidence as the board continued its inquiry into problems arising from production in Turner Valley.

It was important to maintain a position where the producer could be paid a price to enable them to pursue their development work in the field, he said. This balance should be maintained until the potentialities of the field were definitely known.

Gordon Ross, Moose Jaw, Sask., presenting a consumers' co-operative, urged the board to find the reason for the great difference in price of gasoline in Montana and western Canada.

Gasoline was being offered in Montana at five cents a wine gallon in carload lots, said Ross. Imperial in Regina was asking 15 cents or more for the imperial gallon.

"We're prepared to submit our cost statements to the board, broken down and in detail," said LeSueur. He said the cost statements would be submitted confidentially. The company's 1937 statement would be ready shortly.

Robert Wilkinson, Turner Valley producer, told the board he had been refused carriage of his oil in pipe lines of the Royalite Company unless he signed a contract agreeing to sell the oil to Royalite. LeSueur said he could not understand this. It was not his company's policy to refuse to carry oil.

R.A.F. Pilot Killed

Hullington, Middlesex, Eng.—Pilot Mervyn Seymour Boquet of the Royal Air Force, was killed during R.A.F. manoeuvres here when his plane fell with such force rescuers had to dig 13 feet to extricate his body.

REGINA HONORS MUSICAL SISTERS

Regina held a civic reception for the two young ladies above, Misses Evelyn (left) and Elsie Gray, when they returned to the Saskatchewan capital in the course of a concert tour through Western Canada. The sisters received their first training in Regina and 10 years ago, with the assistance of citizens, went to New York to continue their studies.

Reorganization Of German Cabinet And Army Announced

Berlin.—Chancellor Hitler announced by decree a drastic reorganization of the German cabinet and army which removed the last traces of army independence from control by the Nazi party.

He assumed personal command of the nation's armed forces; appointed Joachim von Ribbentrop as foreign minister; promoted General Hermann Goering to the rank of field marshal and made sweeping changes in the army high command.

The shakeup, regarded as a new concentration of all forces of the nation's political, economic and military—was regarded as a victory for the National Socialist party over the old army command.

Field Marshal Werner von Blomberg, war minister, and General Werner von Fritsch, commander-in-chief of the Reichswehr, handed in their resignations, handed in some time ago, were accepted.

Goering was believed to have been elevated to pave the way for his future appointment as war minister. Under the new arrangement there is no war minister, as such.

General Walther von Brauchitsch, commander in the East Prussia military region, was named commander-in-chief of the Reichswehr, succeeding General von Fritsch.

Major-General Wilhelm Keitel was named commander-in-chief of the German armed forces and given the rank of minister. Keitel, a little-known figure, will be subordinate in grade—despite his title to the heads of the three armed forces. His duty will be to co-ordinate technically the three forces, army, navy and aviation.

While Hitler's decree stated the command of the armed forces would exercise in Hitler's name the powers which hitherto belonged to the war minister, the Fuehrer will actually be in control of the forces, pending appointment of a new war minister, probably Goering.

General Keitel, 55, was director of the war ministry and not generally considered one of the army's ranking officers.

General Goering, Hitler's chief aide, will retain the post of air minister as well as that of commander for the four-year self-sufficiency plan.

Admiral Erich Raeder remains in command of the naval forces. Appointment of Von Ribbentrop, ambassador to London, as foreign minister, replaced Baron Constantin von Neurath. Von Ribbentrop, 43, has been an active Nazi since 1930.

At the same time, Herbert von Dirksen and Ulrich von Hassell, ambassadors to Tokyo and Rome, respectively, were appointed.

Proposal To Purchase Two New Destroyers For Canadian Navy

Ottawa.—Canada's defence bill for 1938-39 will be $2,000,000 less than last year, despite a proposal to purchase two new destroyers for the Royal Canadian Navy.

Expenditures by the department of national defence totalling $34,034,364 compared with $36,034,373 last year, are outlined in the estimates tabled in the House of Commons by Finance Minister Dunning.

Purchase of the two new destroyers will bring Canada's naval strength up to six fighting ships. They will be named the "Crusader" and the "Comet" and will be bought from the British admiralty for delivery in the summer.

The increased destroyer strength will be assigned to duty on the Pacific coast. At present two ships are on the Atlantic and two on the Pacific. When the new destroyers arrive four will be stationed on the west coast and two on the east.

Naval service is the only branch of the department to receive increased appropriations in the new estimates. The increase amounts to $1,938,311 and there is also a slight increase for departmental administration.

Curtailment in the total departmental vote comes through reductions of $2,733,216 for militia services, $1,017,000 for air services and $200,000 for general non-military expenditures.

The estimates are to provide for a continuation of the defence program laid down a year ago, the object of which was to provide a system of coast defence for Canada, concentrating first on the Pacific and giving preference first to air defence, secondly to naval and thirdly to repairing deficiencies in equipment of the militia services.

In militia services further steps will be taken to repair equipment deficiencies. It was learned from the department. The amounts provided for the training of both permanent and non-permanent forces will also be increased.

Provision is made for the purchase of additional aircraft similar to those bought last year and improvements are contemplated in air force facilities on the Atlantic coast. The second stage of fortification works on the Pacific begun last year is provided for.

A departmental statement said: "The reduction in the total appropriation as compared with last year is accounted for by the following factors:

"1. The building construction program of last year is now well advanced to completion.

"2. A smaller number of aircraft is being purchased;

"3. It is not anticipated, having regard to the problem of obtaining material, that so large a sum will be required for militia stores during the coming fiscal year.

"Substantial reductions under these three headings are partially offset by increases to provide for enlargement of the naval and air force establishments."

Concentrate At Singapore

Testing Britain's Newly Completed Naval Fortifications

Singapore.—Fast scouting "planes" sped over the China Sea to locate approaching "enemy" warships as a mimic battle testing Britain's newly completed naval fortifications began. The manoeuvres are to test Singapore's endurance in the event of a siege.

Behind the mangrove swamps lining the coast were Singapore's 18-inch coastal defence guns and 10,000 men lay in wait at strategic points.

Twenty-five warships, drawn from the East Indies and China stations and from the Royal Indian Navy, and 210 Royal Air Force "planes" participated.

Earthquake Recorded

Saskatoon.—An earthquake lasting about one and a half hours was recorded Feb. 1 on the University of Saskatchewan seismograph, according to W. Titchmarsh, technician. The disturbance was described as a "fairly large one."

NOTES AND COMMENTS

AS USUAL, there was no organized effort by ratepayers, other than the executive of the miners' association, to select candidates for the council and school board. As long as the tide of events flows smoothly on nobody concerns themselves to see that efficient administration is maintained. Silence may give consent, but it also has the effect of making earnest workers wonder if their efforts are appreciated. Experience of most hardened campaigners is that the public doesn't care one jot as long as they are not asked to make an effort to do something towards preserving sound administration. Then they will kick if they are aroused from their somnambulist condition. 'Twas ever thus, is now and ever shall be, world without end, Amen!

THE ELECTION on Monday to fill vacancies on the council and school board so far has not aroused widespread interest. The miners' association this year nominated candidates sufficient to fill the vacancies. The business area in the past year was not represented on the school board by a direct representative. This year John Salvador's name was placed in nomination as a candidate in the interests of the ratepayers not affiliated with the union. At the annual meeting of ratepayers, he was very outspoken in his views on the teaching of music in the schools, and bases his appeal for election largely on that issue.

AS NONE of the other candidates, other than the councillors and one trustee seeking re-election were present, it was impossible to secure their opinions. The Journal has invited candidates to place before ratepayers their reasons for seeking election, providing space in this issue for those desiring to take advantage of it. In order to enable ratepayers to be guided in their choice, it is hoped the candidates will take advantage of the opportunity.

"AS THE DAYS lengthen, the cold strengthens," was amply demonstrated the early part of the week when the temperature took a nose dive below zero. However, this is the climate that helps to produce hardy Canadians of vigorous physique and mentality.

SOCIAL CREDIT and "social dynamite" do not appear so explosive of late. With Expert Powell's sentence of six months in the "hoosegow" confirmed and deportation recommended as an undesirable citizen, and Propagandist Unwin having made such a mess of his job that he was sentenced to three months and loses his sessional indemnity of $1800, things are far from rosy in the Social Credit camp. Aberhart tells the people to keep their poise; poor comfort in place of $25 a month as promised. Libelling and abusing respectable citizens who see Social Credit only as a myth, and from which only the advocates of such a policy receive the benefit in sessional indemnities and travelling allowances, will not be tolerated.

ABERHART did not face the trustees convention last week. Too much opposition to his policies loomed up, so he conveniently found other business to keep him in Edmonton. It is a habit with him to dodge meetings or conventions where he is liable to be faced with awkward problems and pointed questions which require something better than Bible quotations and sarcastic replies.

NEARLY three years have slipped away, and the $25 is as much a dream as ever. The Albertan has forsaken its support of Social Credit principles, and Aberhart is now plugging for another paper in Edmonton of which a cabinet minister is the editor. The rapture hasn't yet come to pass!

ABERHART fears for the public peace. His own chickens are surely coming home to roost.

Wanted: A Market for Flour

IT MAY BE SAID with truth that it would be better for Canada if the British market would buy all our wheat in the form of flour. We then could give employment to as many persons as are now employed in the milling of our wheat in Britain. But it cannot be said that this would be better for the Motherland for she now has within her shores an industry which in part offsets the disadvantage of not growing enough wheat and other grains to feed her people.

THE CANADIAN cotton-textile industry is similar. The Weather Man permits us to grow no cotton even though we recently have learned to grow tobacco. But we have within the Dominion a cotton-textile industry which employs more than twenty thousand persons. And they are employed with fewer layoffs than in most other industries. Dominion Textile Company Limited is a part of this industry which helps to offset the fact that ours is a country whose industries often have sharp ups and downs from season to season.

THE COTTON-TEXTILE INDUSTRY in Canada is a factor in maintaining the Dominion as a cohesive whole. No finer cotton goods—or cotton-ry—are produced anywhere than in the mills of this company.

Three convictions for assault. One conviction for wounding. One conviction for negligently driving a motor car.

Two boys convicted for theft. Five convicted under By-law 131, failing to observe stop signs.

One man convicted for causing a disturbance in a public place. Two men interdicted.

Two men sent to the mental hospital for treatment. Two convicted for fighting on the street. 45 cases in all.

Complaints: On the night of March 30 the Scott Fruit Store was entered and a certain amount of goods stolen. Later some of the goods were recovered and returned to the company.

On April 28 Nicholas' store was entered from the rear door, and a large quantity of dry goods stolen. Three days after four suit cases of clothing were recovered and returned. I might say that the back entrance of the store was not very secure against breaking and entering. There are three or four stores that have back entrances not very secure.

Business people would be helping the night watchman if they would keep a small light burning in the centre of their store, and not at the front of the store.

Three residences in town were entered and a sum of money taken from two of them and an automatic pistol from another.

Two holdups occurred in the town by masked men. A very slight description of the men was obtained.

I might say that I called in the R.C.M.P. on several occasions and got whole-hearted support from them. I wish to extend my thanks for their support.

Fines to Town

All liquor fines, resulting in prosecution by the town police, go to the town, and half of the fines under the Vehicles Act, which are prosecuted by the town police. Also all prosecutions under town by-laws, under which fines are imposed, go to the town. 130 tickets had been purchased by noon on Wednesday at the Grand Union hotel for the Coleman-Leithbridge league hockey game at Leithbridge on Saturday.

Respectfully submitted,
WILLIAM ANGLE,
Chief of Police.

THEY DO THEIR PART

F. T. Edwards, publisher of The Echo, Fincher Creek, is mayor of that town for 1938. Herman Rice, editor of the Huntsville, Ontario, Chronicle, was elected mayor for the fifth time. Fred Turnbull, of the Red Deer Advocate, served as mayor of his city, is now president of the Agricultural Society, while his partner, F. T. Galbraith, is president of the Board of Trade. Charlie Barber, editor of the Chilliwack Progress, is mayor of his city, in the Fraser Valley. All across Canada weekly newspaper editors are found doing their bit in community affairs, and the above are just a few instances. And when editors die, their widows carry on, as instanced by Mrs. Moore, of the Strathmore Standard; Mrs. Sleight, of the Camrose Canadian; Mrs. McCrea, of the Hanna Herald; Mrs. Duncan, of the Winton (Ont.) Echo, and others.

CURLING BONSPIEL AT BLAIRMORE, FEB. 16 AND 17

The Pontiac and Studebaker bonspiel will be played at the Blairmore arena on Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 16 and 17. Rinks from Coleman, Blairmore and Bellevue compete annually in these competitions. It is hoped that Coleman will send down a strong representation.

Trophies are supported by the Coleman and Blairmore clubs.

When you obey your superior you instruct your inferior in obedience. You are the real author of your troubles.

STRIKE AGAINST GAS TAX

What would happen in the United States and Canada if motor vehicles were taken off the highways and streets, as indicated not long ago in Switzerland where a one-day strike was staged against increasing gasoline taxes.

Notwithstanding favorable weather, according to a report of the American Petroleum Institute's Industries committee, traffic was reduced to a minimum. Practically all private cars were kept off the roads. Those which did appear bore placards reading, "Driving because of Necessity." A few families appeared on the roads with horses hitched to their automobiles.

Every type of business suffered. Heaviest losers, of course, were the hotel owners whose business is so dependent on the tourist trade. Imagine, if you can, the stagnation that would afflict business if motor vehicles were withdrawn from the highways for a single day. —B-38

Candidates Invited To State Views

The following letter was addressed to each candidate by mail on Monday, in order to arouse the interest of ratepayers in the civic elections of Monday:

As a candidate in the forthcoming municipal elections on Monday, Feb. 14, The Journal will be pleased to give space without charge in which you may state the reason you are seeking election. This is done without attempting to inject partiality into the elections so that they may be guided to some extent in their choice of candidates on election day. Such letters or statements should be in this office not later than Wednesday noon, Feb. 9, otherwise there would not be time to publish them in our Thursday's issue.

H. T. Halliwell, Esq.,
Coleman, Alta.

Dear Sir:

Thank you for your letter of this morning and your willingness to give free space. It is very kind of you, but I want the ratepayers to either elect or reject me on what they may consider merit, without me attempting to influence them in any way.

Again thanking you,
Yours truly,
FRED ANTROBUS.

To the Ratepayers of Coleman School District:

If re-elected to Coleman school board, I intend to follow the same policy as pursued during my term of the past two years, not forgetting the taxpayers who have to foot the bills. —R. M. GREENHALGH.

The difference between good printing and sloppy printing is easily seen, carrying the same impression as sloppy clothing. Printed matter to create a good impression must have a good appearance, and that is the only kind you get at The Journal office.

New Sea Lord

Sir Roger Backhouse To Be Chief Of Naval Staff

The British admiralty announced appointment of Admiral Sir Roger Backhouse to be lord commissioner of the admiralty and chief of the naval staff. The appointment carries with it the post of first sea lord. Sir Roger, who has been commander-in-chief of the home fleet, succeeds Admiral of the Fleet Lord Chatfield, who has been first sea lord since 1933. Taking over the home fleet in 1935, Sir Roger, who is 59, has had an eventful 2½ years in command. No sooner had he hoisted his flag in the battleship Nelson than a large part of the fleet was ordered to the Mediterranean to watch Great Britain's sea communications as Italian transports poured through the Suez canal on their way to Ethiopia.

A year later the Spanish civil war led to further calls on Sir Roger's ships. The bulk of his fleet, however, was present at the coronation service at Spithhead last May, when Sir Roger was senior flag officer in command.

"So you have a baby brother. What's his name?"

CHAPTER V.—Continued

"And where is this Punder you speak of so highly?" inquired the earl.

"I am Punder."

"To that I do?" said the earl.

"Will you sit down?"

"I'll stand."

"As you wish, Mr. Punder; but please don't point your silk hat at me like that. Reminds me of a cannon."

Punder paid no heed to this request.

"What's all this about him taking the castle?" he demanded, raising Ernest with a bovine glare.

"May I present Mr. Ernest Bingley?" said the earl. "One of the American lot."

"I might have guessed it," he said.

"A Yank! They push in everywhere."

"Like Punders?" murmured the earl.

Punder chose to ignore this. He addressed Ernest—

"Let me tell you that whoever you are and whatever you are you can't bag this place from under Punder's nose."

"My dear Mr. Punder," said the earl. "Let me speak for Mr. Bingley and say that your nose was not even on the distant horizon when he and I came to terms."

"To that London solicitor of yours a fool or a knave or both?" Punder demanded.

"Neither," returned the earl, and he said it with warmth. "I advise you, Mr. Punder, not to make suggestions. They are slanderous and probably actionable."

"I was just asking," said Punder. "I had a bit of a chat with him and he said he'd write you."

"And so he did," said the earl. Then struck by a disturbing thought, he said, "Dear me! I remember now—he must have mentioned you—but he will write in long-hand—he's of the old school, you know—and wasn't sure of the name."

"Well, then, what about it?" asked Punder.

"What about what?"

"Me and the castle."

"You may go through it from stem to stern, if you wish to Mr. Punder."

"I've seen enough of it to know I want it," said Punder.

"I'm afraid you are too late, Mr. Punder," said the earl. "This gentleman got here first. Audentes fortuna juvat, you know."

"I don't know," said Punder.

"Meaning, in round numbers, 'First come, first served,'" said the earl.

"Now look here," said Punder, "that Scotch lawyer of yours gave me to understand that I could rent the place, with an option to buy, and I gathered that if I made a thumping good offer, you'd sell like a shot. Well?"

"It is not my intention," said the earl, steadily, "to sell Bingley Castle like a shot or anything else. It remains in the family."

"That's what you think," said Punder.

"Correct me if I'm wrong by all means," said the earl.

"What Punder wants, Punder gets," asserted the owner of that name.

"How nice for Punder," said the earl.

"And I want this."

Punder waved a big hand in a gesture which included the castle and its grounds.

"Nothing doing," said the earl.

"That's what you think."

"I wish you wouldn't keep saying that," said the earl.

"And when I have it," went on Punder, "I'll just modernize it up a bit. Cut down a few trees. Smarten the place up. When I've spent a couple of thousand quid on paint and plumbing you don't know the old place."

"Shouldn't want to," said the earl. Ernest glanced at Lord Rose, and saw, in his face, a look of grave concern.

"How much?"

Punder pointed his cannon hat at Ernest and discharged the question point blank at him.

"I beg your pardon, sir," said Ernest, "but I'm only the tenant."

"You're an American, aren't you?" said Punder in third-degree tones.

"I am."

"Then you know what 'how much' means."

"I do," said Ernest, stiffly.

"Well, then, how much?"

"Is this a game?" asked the earl.

"How much for what?" asked Ernest.

"Your option or whatever you have to this place," said Punder.

"When Ernest was slow in replying, Punder rushed on—

"Gouge me," he said. "I know you Yanks. If I'd known one of you was after this place I wouldn't have stopped off at Bristol yesterday to buy a cheese plant there. You got here first. All right. That's business. Gouge me."

He moved his thick chest close to Ernest as if the gouging were to be of a physical nature.

"But I don't want to gouge you, Mr. Punder," said Ernest.

"Oh, no?" snorted Punder. "And you a Yank! Hah! Innocent as a lamb you are."

"Two lambs," put in the earl.

"I see through you," Punder said, fixing Ernest with so searching an eye that Ernest felt as if he were being X-rayed. He began to perspire. He did not want to be seen through. He waited for the words which would expose him as a sham.

"You and your cute little games," snorted on Punder. "You knew Punder had his eye on this castle. It's common talk in the City. So you sneaked down here, tied it up, and now you think you have me by the ears."

"Mr. Punder," said Ernest, "you are mistaken. I haven't got you by the ears. I don't want to have you by the ears. I did not sneak down here. I did not want to be interested in the castle. In fact, until a minute ago, I never heard of you in my life."

This imputation of anonymity caused Punder to purple and swell in an alarming way.

"Never heard of Punder, hey?" he belovied. "Well, you've heard of him now and you'll hear of him again."

"Really, now, Mr. Punder," said the earl, soothingly, "you must not excite yourself. You might burst. I should care to have that happen, not in my breakfast room, anyway."

"Nobody's going to bamboozle Punder," thundered the pickle magnate.

"Of course, not," said the earl, as if he were a nurse speaking to a child. "The Ideal Bamboozle Punder? I should think not."

"What do you call it then," demanded Punder, "letting a Yank do me out of my castle?"

"Is it your contention that you have a legal right to the place?" asked the earl.

"Can't see, perhaps," grudgingly admitted Punder.

"Well, then, you must take your medicine like a little man."

"That's what you think," said Punder.

"In as few words a possible, 'Yes,'" said the earl.

"That's what you—"

The earl held up his hand.

"Please, Mr. Punder!" he said.

"I'm sorry you had the trip down here for nothing. So, as your time must be valuable, I'll get on."

"Guinea a minute."

"Really? At least one pound ten I'd have said. But you know, of course."

"I know what I want, too," said Punder. "And I know how to get it, see?"

"In this case," said the earl, "I don't see."

"You've got a family motto."

"It's 'Omnia Paratur'—meaning the Bingleys are ready for anything."

"Well, I've got a motto, too," said Punder, "and I made up mine myself. It's not Greek, it's plain English and it's 'Nothing Stays Punder.'"

"That's the earl."

"May I say something?" said Ernest.

"I've been thinking about the situation," said Ernest. "I don't want to be unfair to you, sir, or to anybody. Perhaps once I rented the castle through what might be called a misunderstanding, I should step aside and let you have it."

"I thought so," said Punder. "It is a rump. Hah! Another of those American hold-ups. Well, how much?"

He whipped out a check-book as if he were drawing a pistol.

A faint sound escaped from Lady Rosa. It might have been a moan.

Ernest's eyes travelled to her troubled face.

"Nothing," he said.

"Nothing?"

"I mean I'm going to keep the castle."

"Oh, yes?"

Punder pushed his big face close to Ernest's.

Ernest met his eyes.

"Oh, YES?" said Ernest. And then he lost his temper. Never in his life had he lost it before; so now, while he was about it, he made a good job of it.

"And since it is my castle, you get the hell out of it, you big stiff," he shouted.

"Easy, Ernest," said the earl.

"Easy, eye," cried Ernest.

"Crump!"

"Yes, sir?" said the hovering Crump.

A Robot Sales Brain

Records Sales And Gives Receipts In A Five Seconds

A new kind of electrical brain to substitute for both salesgirl's slip and cash register check in department stores—was announced to the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

This sales brain was made by L. F. Woodruff, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, which in the past has produced mechanical brains to do things like figuring out where a 16-inch shell is going to hit and solving third degree differential equations.

The "gray matter," for a good sized department store, would be about 300 machines, electrically connected. This network not only records a sale and gives the customer a receipt in five seconds, but does much of the bookkeeping on the transaction. It can handle a large number of sales simultaneously.

The brain is operated by the salesgirls with a transmitting machine resembling a cash register. When a sale is made, a card punched to resemble the spots on a domino, taken from the article sold, is slipped into the transmitter, along with two punched tokens, one identifying her and the other the cashier.

The transmitter automatically sorts these, telegraphs the information to recording machines in a central office, and pushes out a domino-like card which is the customer's receipt.

On the card is the date and amount of sale. The domino punches are a code, identifying goods and inventory prices.

The brain does its neatest trick with charge accounts. Charge customers are furnished with small punched tokens. The positions of the holes identify the customers.

One of these tokens goes into the transmitter, in place of the cashier's token, when a charge sale is made. The electrical network telegraphs this token to a separate battery of machines, manned by operators who have all the customer accounts handy. If the account is "good," the operator presses a button labeled O.K. The brain thereupon completes the transaction as for a cash customer.

CHEST COLDS

Relieve Their Misery
This Proved Way

WHERE there's a cold to treat—especially if it's a chest cold—that's no time to experiment. Relieve the misery with the treatment that has been doubly proved for you.

Here's What To Do: It's best to stay in bed and get lots of rest. Eat lightly, drink plenty of water, and keep elimination regular. And use your dependable Vicks VapoRub without delay.

VapoRub has been proved by everyday use in more homes than any other medication of its kind—further proved by the largest clinical tests ever made on colds. (Full details in every VapoRub package.) Only Vicks give you proof like this. VapoRub is direct external treatment. No "dosing"—no stomach upset. Just massage it on throat, chest, and back. Then—to make its long-continued double action last even longer—spread a thick layer over your nose and cover with a warm cloth.

Almost before you finish rubbing, you begin to feel warm and comfortable as VapoRub goes to work direct through the skin like a poultice. At the same time it mediates vapors released by the warmth of the body, are carried direct to the irritated air-passages with every breath.

This double action loosens phlegm, relieves irritation and coughing—helps break local congestion. And long after restful sleep comes, VapoRub keeps on working.

Leaves Money To Village

Little Community In England Receives Fortune From Shopkeeper

Miss Annie Shaw is dead. London may not know, nor will Canada care very much. But the little village of Weston-on-Trent has been surprised at its of its rural complacency to find that the village storekeeper left the community £16,000 ($30,000).

And £16,000 in this village is a lot of money, enough to build a village hall, put a peal of bells in the parish church, improve the village green, and still have some for charitable purposes beneficial to the inhabitants as a community. Miss Shaw wished for those particular things.

No one knew Miss Shaw had that much money. She retired several years ago, but her shop only closed its doors. She lived on in a sitting room behind.

Has Faith In West

Ottawa Farm Director Says West Will Produce As Good Crop As Ever

Dr. E. S. Archibald, director of the central experimental farm at Ottawa, told the annual meeting of the Ontario Plowmen's Association at Toronto "the story the west is done is perfectly ridiculous."

Wheat production in the prairies had been valued at $7,150,000,000 in the past 20 years, Dr. Archibald said, "and in the next 20 years there will be another $7,000,000,000 wheat crop."

Postmistress At Eighty-Eight

Mrs. Helen Keys Does Work At Brewer's Mills Ontario

His Majesty's mail is handled daily at Brewer's Mills postoffice in Ontario by Mrs. Helen Keys, aged 88 years, who, it is believed, is the oldest postal official in Canada.

Mrs. Keys, who is the widow of James Keys, is not only the postmistress in name, but actually does the work and does it well. Her husband was postmaster previous to 1926, when he died, at the age of 84. The Postoffice Department appointed his widow his successor, and she has carried on the duties ever since.

In addition to handling the mail for the people who call at the office, Mrs. Keys had to supervise the rural delivery. Her hearing is good, she sees well, and she writes a good hand.

The oldest postmaster in point of service is believed to be William Henry Casement, who has had charge of the office in Lakeside, 10 miles north of Peterborough, since 1875. He celebrated his 83rd birthday recently.

Obeyed Instructions

Boy Witness Took No Chances On Court Appearance

Some time ago a friend attended court to hear a case in which he was interested. A small boy of about 10 was called to appear as witness for his father; he was an underized lad, clad in a coat and trousers which were very much too large for him.

The judge looked fixedly at this strange apparition and demanded brusquely to be told why he had come to court in such garments.

The boy, rather frightened, produced a printed notice and drew attention to the fact that he was commanded to attend court that day "in his father's suit!"—London Evening News.

THE GREAT-WEST LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY

GREAT-WEST POLICYHOLDERS and their families number approximately one million persons. The following facts will interest them and others.

LIVING POLICYHOLDERS received over $11,000,000 in 1937. The Company has paid more than $150,000,000 to policyholders and beneficiaries since it was founded in 1892.

1250 POLICYHOLDERS died in the year and more than $25,000,000 was paid to beneficiaries.

NEW BUSINESS placed over $53,000,000 again shows an increase.

REVENUES IN FORCE now amount to nearly $100,000,000—a substantial cash during the year.

THE ASSETS also show a gratifying increase. They bring almost exclusively to policyholders and beneficiaries.

LIBERAL PARTICIPATION RETURNS to policyholders are being continued.

STEWARDSHIP is the Company's watchword. The year's figures indicate the "care" and increasing field in which that stewardship operates and show the importance of the small savings of many people when gathered together in a co-operative enterprise.

erican advertisers, the following editorial from the Canadian Statesman, of Bowmanville, Ont., presents another side of the argument which is well taken: Here it is, and it's well worth reading:

"Hello Canada! This is Uncle Sam
speaking to you over your own national hookup." These words appear below a clever and timely cartoon, in the Financial Post, of Uncle Sam
speaking over a C.B.C. microphone.
Outside of the glass-encased studio may be seen the figures of Canadian speakers, educationists, musicians and other artists who have been forced from the Canadian airwaves, and manager Gladstone Murray of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, pointing a finger at them to be quiet, while Uncle Sam is speaking.

Few people realize the extent to which the Corporation has sold out to American interests. Nearest to local people is the new commission station CBL, which replaced the Bowmanville station CRCT. R. A. Farquar-son, of The Financial Post, made a survey and found out that CBL features American originated programs for 43.3% of its time on the air. It reaches the peak on Saturdays when 53.1% of the time is taken up with American programs, and the low point is reached on Sunday when 37% of the time is given over to the American programs. Imagine this condition, when it will be recalled that the Corporation came into existence for the avowed purpose of Canadi-anizing the air.

At the time the Royal Commission, headed by Sir John Aird, was investigating radio, evidence was presented from all parts of Canada of the growing danger of Americanization of Canadian speech, Canadian manners, and the Corporation was brought into being to offset this United States penetration. Now we find the Corporation actually selling 43% of its time to these same interests.

About the only way one can tell a Canadian station now is to hear the National Anthem, and even that is no sure proof, for it might as well be "My Country 'Tis of Thee" that is being played to the same tune.

Canadians are now being get-dressed to American music, breakfast to an American orchestra, listen to the latest news and official time from Washington and by 10.30 a.m.
the good housewife is supposed to be ready to learn how to bring up her children in the American way.

Week ago Saturday CBL featured a solid block of American programs extending from early morning until noon, and heaven knows how many of the records played, as sustaining features, were made in the United States.

The Corporation has seemingly ignored the fact that many Canadians can tune in to American stations just as easily as we can Canadian stations, and that if they so desire they can listen to American programs without paying the Corporation a $2.50 license for them to subsidize these programs at the expense of programs originating in Canada over independent stations.

The National Broadcasting Company, in an announcement of its "Canadian Supplementary Facilities," boasts of the way it has secured coverage over Canadian stations.

The C.B.C. claims it cannot afford to compete with American programs, and so throws its hands in the air and decides to do the next best thing, turn the Canadian air over to Americans and reap enough income to offset the deficit. The Corporation forgets that Canadian newspapers and magazines are faced with similar competition from imported American magazines, but the fighting, loyal Canadian publishers face this opposition and gain strength in the struggle to present Canadian ideas and ideals.

In Memoriam

GRAHAM—In Loving Memory of our dearly beloved husband and father, William Graham, who was gassed in McGillivray mine, Feb. 11, 1935.

Gone is the face we loved so dear;
Silent is the voice we loved so dear;
Too far away for sight or speech;
But not too far for thought to reach.
Sweet to remember him who once was here,

And who, though absent, is just as dear.
—Ever remembered by his wife and family, Mary, Billy and Peter.

Rossland Defeat Canadians 5-4

Rossland Miners eked out a 5-4 win over Canadians at the arena Wednesday night before a handful of fans to win their first two points in their present trip around the circuit.

Out of the play-offs and with nothing at stake, Coleman showed little enthusiasm for the game and as a result found themselves facing a 5-1 deficit with only ten minutes left to play. They finally came to life and scored three goals in a few minutes but were unable to score the equalizer. Landiak, Joyce and Bill Fraser 2, scored for Coleman. Nelson scored through Jones 2, Smith 3.

Proceeding the game Elks'
Pee Wees gained a 2-1 decision over an All Star aggregation.
Moore and Beddington scored for the Elks while Destobel gave the All Stars their lone tally.

Pee Wee Hockey

Two Pee Wee hockey games were played on Sunday before a fairly good crowd of fans. Italians and Slovaks took the ice in the first fixture, Italians winning 2-1. Destobel was the star player for the winning team with two goals, Wavrecan scoring for the Slovaks. Only one penalty was handed out, that going to Caroe.

In the second game the Polish team took Pattinson's team into

YES, SIR!
We Appreciate Them!

The other day we asked a man for his printing, and he told us:
'Oh, your printing does not amount to much. All we have is a few little orders, and none of them ever run into anything that looks like money.'

Those little orders are the kind that make our business.

Most of our business is in printing letterheads, envelopes, circulars, posters, office forms and other small orders.

We appreciate a small order just as much as we do a big one.

So—if you have any small orders for printing, we want you to know that we are glad to get them.
We appreciate them just as much —and take just as good care of them as if they actually amounted to hundreds of dollars.

Important Announcement

I have had fairly good response to my advertising campaign so far, and as long as the people owing me money "play the game," I will refrain from publishing their names. But in the event that they should fail, I will carry out my threat, so kindly govern yourselves accordingly.
